

The day the music dies

,not to brood. Others pick up the tune. Never those desired ,though, after conferring irrelevancy, they soon take you at your work, paying little mind to the smoke whorling wounds of fresh kills nearby.